Committee

History

International Veterinary Students' Association (IVSA) established in 1950's in Europe.

Due to the need of the time, the International Veterinary Students' Association founded the IVSA Standing Committee on One Health (SCOH) in The Netherlands in August 2013.

The committee is dedicated to One Health in contrast with the other students' associations, which have committees/chairpersons dedicated to pure Public Health

ie. Standing Committee on Public Health (SCOPH) | International Federation of Medical Students' Associations (IFMSA)

ie. Chairperson in Public Health | International Federation of Pharmaceutical Students (IPSF)

The Need of the Time | Why this committee?

- ✓ new emerging diseases which are originated from animals (zoonoses)
- ✓ the modern perspective of interdisciplinary collaboration
- ✓ the existence of such committees in medical/pharmaceutical students' associations
- ✓ the lack of education and information of veterinary students concerning applications of One Health
- ✓ the lack of awareness of non-vets about the role of veterinarians in controlling zoonoses

The globalized

Global One Health Challenge by GARC, IFMSA & IVSA

We co-organized a joint Global Alliance project within World Rabies Day 2014 named “Global One Health Challenge”. This is a contest of the best local event related to rabies and organized by IFMSA-IVSA local chapters.

WORLD RABIES DAY
SEPTEMBER 28

The Future is in Your Hands Global One Health Challenge

Rabies is preventable and global elimination of this terrifying zoonosis is possible. As future medical professionals for animals and humans you play an essential role in making this a reality.

The Global One Health Challenge is a competition for veterinary and medical students all over the world, to celebrate the 8th annual World Rabies Day on September 28th

Take part in the Global One Health Challenge to

- ✓ Protect people and animals from rabies
- ✓ Build relationships with others who care about making a difference, and
- ✓ Win exciting prizes

Create a team with other students and register your event.
Hold a rabies prevention event in your community on or near World Rabies Day (September 28)
Share your event with others via social media and submit your completed entry by November 30, 2014.
